Orff: On and Off the Instruments with Joe Berarducci

With the experience and skills that only decades of dedication can achieve, master teacher Joe Berarducci will take us on a journey through the essence of the Orff approach. Working with and without instruments, Joe will help us renew and deepen our understanding of the elements of Orff.

A past president and honorary lifetime member of Carl Orff Canada, Joe Berarducci is in constant demand nationally and internationally as a consultant and clinician. He has taught at various universities across North America and is a prolific composer of recorder and percussion arrangements. Fully engaged in 'career #3', Joe has 60 piano students at the Kelowna Community Music School. He continues to teach the Levels courses in BC and California and is currently revising the Guidelines for Carl Orff Canada's Teacher Training Courses.

A Xylophone is the Playground with Tisia Minichiello

"Since the beginning of time, children have not liked to study. They would much rather play, and if you have their interests at heart, you will let them learn while they play; they will find that what they have mastered is child's play." Carl Orff

What if, sometimes, students in music class could just play with musical sounds and ideas? Play, central to Orff's approach, has an important role within children's formal music education. The opportunity to play freely in music has many benefits, involving imagination, intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, autonomy and trust. But, what does it look like, sound like and feel like? In this workshop, the activities, conversations and questions will orbit around free play, music education, and, even, musical identity.

For thirty years, Tisia Minichiello has been teaching K-7 music and choir in Burnaby. An Orff trained music specialist, Tisia integrates play into many aspects of her music teaching. Her recent Masters' project focused on free play in the intermediate music classroom. Over the years, Tisia has presented Orff workshops throughout B.C. She is co-director of the Northern Spirit Ringers, one of three District Hand Bell Choirs in Burnaby.

Children's Day 2011

Watch 100 students work with Master Teachers
Glenn de Verteuil, Beverly Best and more!

Here is your opportunity to see master teachers demonstrating the best of Orff Schulwerk. Divided into four groups, students will sing, dance, play recorder and play pitched and non-pitched percussion instruments rotating to work with each teacher. The students will create a final performance to showcase at the end of the day. Children's Day is an exciting day for students and teachers as well as a great advocacy opportunity for your music program.

All teacher observers attend free of charge. Student packages will be mailed out in the spring to current members. Members may send up to 5 student participants.

Location: TBA - Please check our website for updates at www.bcorff.ca
